

Colombes, April 2nd, 2013

To whom it may concern

Recently several reports and official documents have been published on R134a contamination with R40 or other refrigerants.
The most recent information came from AHRI disclosing a White paper on this subject.

Arkema shares those concerns and is monitoring its entire supply chain from R134a production and upstream till end-users, through a selected distribution network.

Forane[®] 134a from Arkema surpasses AHRI 700 2012 specification and continues to be safe to use under appropriate conditions.

Sincerely yours

Olivier POYET
Global Business Manager Forane[®]

In attachment: AHRI White Paper March 2013